Reich Generals Join Talks On Czechoslovakia

High Command Meets Sudeten Leader at Hitler's Home

Anxiety in London

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Nazi Germany's high command today held what may prove a history-making three-and-a-half-hour meeting with Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, at Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat.

The meeting, to which Hitler had summoned Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and other military chieftains, had before it Czechoslovakia's latest proposals for averting open conflict over the Sudeten demands for autonomy.

The conference ended at 5 p.m. without announcement of any decision. Goering and other Nazi leaders entrained to return to Berlin.

It was Henlein's fourth visit to the German Fuehrer, his protector, this year.

The outcome of the conference was expected to be either acceptance or rejection of the Czechoslovak government's latest proposals for solution of the conflict between Prague and the autonomy-demanding Sudeten Germans.

Although these proposals have not been officially handed to Henlein's party, it was believed here F. T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, of the British mediation mission, informed the Sudeten leader of their contents in a conference at Marienbad last night.

ANSWER AWAITED

LONDON (AP)—Great Britain and France received with anxiety today the news Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, had left Czechoslovakia to see Chancellors Hitler of Germany, his supporter.

The fact Henlein had gone to Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, was interpreted as meaning Henlein not the Sudeten German leaders themselves would give final answer on the Czechoslovak autonomy proposals, originally demanded by the Prague government no later than tomorrow morning.

Optimism over appearance of moderation shown by a considerable section of the Sudeten Germans waned pending developments at the meeting of the Fuehrer.

It was expected to show whether Hitler had been impressed by French and British warnings not to plunge into anything that might drag Europe into war.

All quarters seemed agreed that a crisis was approaching a climax with the fate of Czechoslovakia and, possibly, all Europe, in the hands of one man—Hitler.

U.S. Course Watched

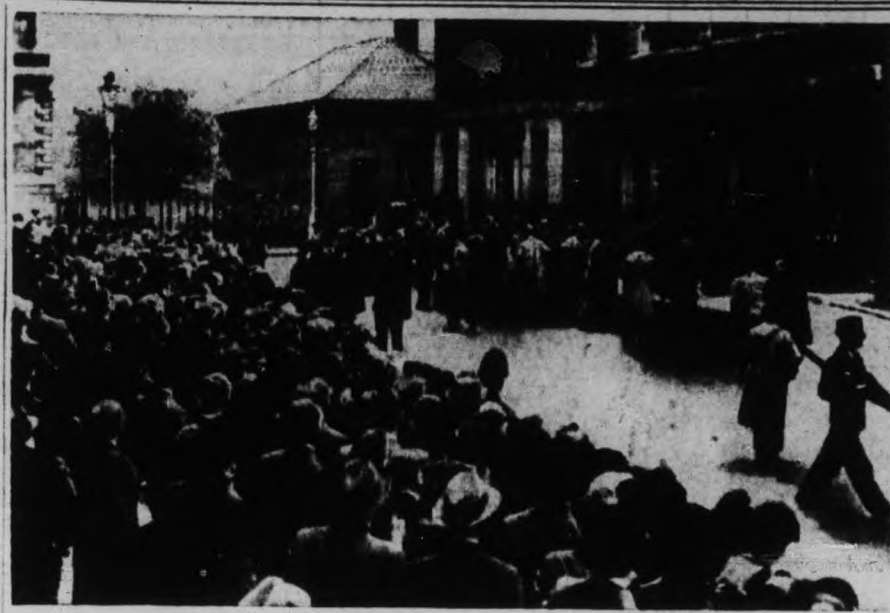

LONDON (AP)—A section of the British press today praised the United States' interest in the issue between Czechoslovakia and the autonomy-demanding Sudeten German minority. The Yorkshire Post predicted President Roosevelt might send Hitler a warning.

Berlin Stocks Up

BERLIN (AP)—Share prices on the Berlin Stock Exchange rose today 1/4 to 2 1/2 per cent. Traders ascribed the rise to the more optimistic view taken by German business concerning the German-Czech situation.

Victoria Tugboat Ashore

Burrard Chief Half Submerged on Texada Island After Striking in Fog; Salvage to Be Attempted

Partly submerged and with her engine room flooded, the tugboat Burrard Chief owned by the Island Tug and Barge Company of Victoria, is ashore today at Point Upwood, south end of Texada Island, Gulf of Georgia.

Capt. J. Barlow and his crew are standing by the wreck, and prospects of salvage are considered good, it was indicated at the company's offices this morning.

Harold B. Elworthy, president of the Island Tug and Barge Company, and W. G. Jordan, salvage expert of the Pacific Salvage Company, left Victoria this morning by auto for Nanos Bay, from where they took a speedboat for Texada Island, arriving about 2 this afternoon.

The Burrard Chief piled up at an early hour today in coast fog while towing a couple of scows northbound. As her engine room flooded, her radio equipment went out of commission. It all happened so quickly that the crew had difficulty in getting clear as the tug settled.

In addition to Capt. Barlow the crew members were C. Taylor, mate, D. Mulcahy, chief engineer, A. Beeth, second engineer, A. Haynes, deckhand, and H. Martin, cook.

The survey being made today by Mr. Elworthy and Mr. Jordan, assisted by Capt. Clark, Vancouver surveyor, will determine what salvage equipment will be necessary to raise the Burrard Chief.

It was only last Saturday that the Burrard Chief figured in a salvage job off Victoria.

She put a line aboard S.S. Eastholm, of the Waterhouse fleet, disabled by a fish net entangling her propeller off Discovery Island while bound to Tacoma with ore, and brought the ship to port.

U.S. Rail Men Vote on Dispute

Workers Asked to Decide If They Will Strike Against Wage Cut

CHICAGO (AP)—Employees of the major railroads of the United States were asked today to decide whether they should strike in protest against a 15 per cent wage cut.

Leaders of 19 rail unions ordered a strike ballot among the 929,000 workers after the collapse yesterday of efforts to mediate the wage dispute.

The national mediation board, which has been striving for a settlement since August 11, completed its role under the Railway Labor Act by suggesting arbitration.

H. A. Enoch, chairman of the committee representing rail management, said the carriers were willing to submit the controversy to arbitration. Union chieftains refused.

LENGTHY TASK

A strike vote was immediately ordered by the Railway Labor Executive Association, representing 18 unions, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The balloting and tabulating will take about 26 days.

Enochs announced the wage slash, amounting to an estimated $250,000,000 annually, would be effective October 1.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executive Association, stated "organized labor is determined to preserve existing wage levels," and if railroad managements "persist in their wage-cutting program, a grave situation impends."

Protest to Czechs

BERLIN (AP)—A German protest to Czechoslovakia—which would be the third within a week—appeared likely as a result of an alleged ambush yesterday when Czech customs officials were said to have shot at, but missed, a German frontier guard near Oelsen, Saxony. Foreign Office quarters said such a protest was being considered.

ITALY ORDERS MANY JEWS MUST LEAVE

All Who Arrived Since Jan. 1, 1919, Told to Depart From Country

ROME (AP)—All Jews who have settled in Italy since January 1, 1919, today were ordered to leave the country within six months by a cabinet decree.

The decree applies even to Jews who have become Italian citizens, because citizenship conferred since that date is revoked. The edict was made applicable to Italy proper, Libya and the Aegean Isles. No mention was made of Italian East Africa.

The settlement of Jews in Italy from now on is prohibited. The decree defines as Jewish all born of both parents of the Hebrew race regardless of religion.

Italian East Africa—Ethiopia, Somaliland and Eritrea—may prove to be the haven for most of Italy's expelled Jews.

Jewish refugees from other European countries have found the doors of other lands closed. The decree was issued after the cabinet meeting at which Premier Mussolini presided.

Returns from a census of Italian Jews less than two weeks ago have not yet been announced. The newspaper Il Tevere, however, indicated 70,000 had been counted, many more than had been expected.

No official information was available to show the number of Jews who would be affected by the decree, but observers estimated it would be more than 10,000.

Three Shots Fired In Police Chase

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man, whose name police withheld, was detained today following a chase in which Constable A. P. Barber fired three warning shots after a suspected robber prowler.

Jack Hey awoke to find a man in his hotel room.

The man fled and was joined by a second man in the hotel hallway. Later C. P. Robinson discovered two men in his room in another hotel. A bell boy saw the men running away, and Constable Barber arrested one. The second man escaped.

Mission Protected

PRAHA (CP-Havas)—Members of Viscount Runciman's mission have been supplied with gas masks. It was learned today. The masks arrived from England last night and were delivered to Lord Runciman's hotel.

Judge to Inquire Into Bren Guns

Mackenzie Says There Will Be No Delay in Inquiry Into Toronto Contract

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, announced today at a press conference that a judicial inquiry will be held into the awarding of the Bren machine gun contract to the John Inglis Company of Toronto.

Following an attack on the Bren contract in a magazine article written by Lieut. Col. George Drew of Guelph, Ont., the minister said he had recommended an immediate judicial inquiry. This had been approved by his colleagues of the cabinet yesterday and a judge of one of the higher courts would be appointed in a few days.

The inquiry will be conducted in Ottawa.

Mr. Mackenzie's statement today told how some time ago an interdepartmental committee was set up composed of permanent officials from separate departments of the government whose duty it was to examine, study and pass on important contracts emanating from the Department of National Defence in cases where competitive bidding was not feasible.

NO DELAY WANTED

Referring to the Drew magazine article, the statement continued:

"Yesterday I took this up in council and, while ordinarily the public accounts committee of the House of Commons is the appropriate body to examine such agreements, I recommended that in this case, on account of the critical world situation and the extreme national importance of keeping public confidence in the vitally necessary work being carried out by my department, there should be the least possible delay, and therefore, that a judicial inquiry which could be set in motion immediately and without awaiting the assembling of Parliament would be preferable.

"This view was concurred in by the members of the government who were present at the council and was subsequently heartily endorsed by the Prime Minister, who was good enough to discuss it with me at Kingsmere, even although indisposed."

Mr. Mackenzie said all officers of the department would be available to give evidence if required, including the minister.

"It is only fair for me to state," said the minister, "that my opinion has not altered in the very slightest that this contract is fair, and reasonable and in the public interest."

Russian Recruiting

MOSCOW (AP)—The red army's new recruits, the class of 1917 and part of 1918, reported for duty today. The aggregate number was not revealed, but the Army Red Star said 10,000 of them could fly airplanes and use parachutes, having learned this during spare time as civilians.

Taxi rates in Victoria are reported to be the lowest on the North American continent.

Taxi drivers are one of the few groups of employees whose working hours were never before put under government control. The new rule will apply only to those men working for a company and will have nothing to do with operators who drive their own cars.

Working hours of taxi drivers will be limited, starting today, to nine hours in any one day and 54 hours in any one week.

Local taxi drivers this morning expressed some concern at the new rule, which, they said, would not go hand-in-hand with a civic by-law governing taxi rates and setting a minimum charge.

A number of the operators were of the opinion the civic by-law would have to be changed, allowing a higher minimum, in order to take care of the extra men needed under the new government regulation.

Peninsular and Oriental Line. Her moorings snapped, and the ship swerved to cut the lines of two other craft. All three were driven ashore.

Another Japanese freighter nosed into rocks near the Yokohama lighthouse.

Other ships weighed anchor and turned toward the open sea. One watcher reported he had seen a number of small boats overturned in Yokohama harbor.

Ninety thousand houses in Tokyo were flooded partially, 209 houses were destroyed and 300 were unroofed or otherwise damaged.

Nine persons were hurt when the brick wall of a bath house collapsed. Two bridges were destroyed by wind and high water. The American-owned Japanese Advertiser was unable to publish for lack of power, but native newspapers issued one-page editions.

The stock market and other exchanges closed for the morning. Authorities reported 1,200 of the city's famed cherry trees destroyed.

Fears of a rice shortage were expressed in some quarters because the storm struck just as the crop was beginning to ripen. It caused widespread damage to fields.

D. Lachance Describes Wrecking of Quebec House; Children Killed

Delphis Lachance, middle-aged millworker whose daughter died today when a landslide crushed an apartment house at St. Gregoire, Que., and whose son is feared buried in the wreckage, gave the following account of the tragedy to the Canadian Press as he watched rescuers dig for his son's body.

ST. GREGOIRE DE MONTMORENCY, Que. (CP)—They tell me my daughter is dead—I have not seen her since the earth came down. And that my boy is buried in our home. I don't know. I suppose it is so, and that two more of us have died.

We buried one daughter two weeks ago. That was Dolorosa. She was 20. And now two more of us gone. It seems hard to believe.

It came so suddenly. We were asleep, myself, my wife and our 11 children. We were on the ground floor.

LOUD THUNDER

There came a crack of thunder. I have never heard it so loud. It woke me. My wife woke up too. She said something was wrong. Then I saw the water running through the building from behind.

I jumped out of bed and yelled, "Save yourselves." Then I ran into the street and out to the railway tracks. I could see the earth coming down over our home.

Just like a deluge the water poured down the cliff. Soon it came up to my hips where I was standing.

I ran to the next door building and tried to get in. "Save yourselves," I yelled to them.

They thought I was crazy or drunk. Then I ran back to our home. I saw two people jumping out the windows. Most of my family came out safely. All but Rosa and the boy.

She is dead, I suppose. They told me so. I have not gone to the morgue to see her. I am staying here by the house, waiting.

Logging and Manufacturing Up-Island Revealed to Great Britain Party

QUALICUM BEACH—The United Kingdom timber trade party is Victoria bound after a day of continuous movement which gave most of the timbermen their first acquaintance with lumber in the raw.

The party left Port Alberni in two launches yesterday morning for the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company's booming grounds, where 700 tons of logs were unloaded from railway cars into the water in less than two minutes.

An exhibition of log rolling was also given. The party boarded a special train made up of bench-fitted flat cars and for almost 40 miles traveled into the middle of the A.P.L. Ash River and Elsie Lake operations.

In the Ash River district the visitors watched loading of logs with spar tree and donkey engine. At another point on the A.P.L. line they stopped on top of a trestle for a glimpse of a giant fir tree.

At the company's Camp One the party ate a lumbermen's vast lunch. Within a few minutes the visitors had got into the wood's habit of reaching out and spearing steaks with their forks and using their saws for dessert plates.

In the afternoon they took the train again to watch a spar tree being topped by an agile logger. Buses carried them to Alberni, Cathedral Grove and Qualicum for a view of the island's finest stand of timber.

On arrival here the group was entertained at a cocktail party at the summer home of H. R. MacMillan, president of the A.P.L. It was announced $200 had been subscribed by the timbermen for Fairbridge Farm School, which was visited Tuesday.

Today the party made an early start and visited mills at Chemainus and Hillcrest. Victoria will be reached early this evening.

Five Die When St. Gregoire, Quebec House Crushed

5 Drown at Portneuf

QUEBEC (CP)—Death and destruction came with a violent storm that swept over the eastern part of the St. Lawrence River valley early today. An avalanche, a flood, and a train wreck killed 11 persons, injured another dozen and left a boy missing.

Drenching rain loosened a slice of a precipice at St. Gregoire de Montmorency, six miles east of here, and tons of earth and rock fell away, crushing a small apartment house like an eggshell. Bodies of four occupants were recovered from the wreckage, and a dozen persons dragged moaning from the debris were taken to a hospital, seriously injured. A young boy remained unaccounted for.

Torrential rains swelled the Portneuf River to flood stage at Portneuf, 40 miles west of here, and five persons drowned when muddy flood waters washed their frame house away. High water chased other villagers to high ground with their household goods and possessions.

TRAIN WRECK

Just east of Portneuf, flood waters washed out a culvert on the Canadian Pacific Railway line and the Montreal-Quebec night express train hit the wash-out, bringing death to the engineer and fireman and injuries to the conductor and several passengers.

Three women and a baby perished under the avalanche at St. Gregoire, a stone's throw from Montmorency Falls. Salvage crews uncovered the bodies of Rosa Lachance, Mrs. Patrick Delisle, Mrs. Corinthe Audet and an unidentified baby.

A young brother of Miss Lachance was reported missing. He was one of the 48 occupants of the textile millworkers' tenement unaccounted for. Many escaped injury altogether when the cliffside tumbled on their home just before dawn.

SWEPT AWAY

Mrs. George Marcot drowned in the flood at Portneuf with her 10-month-old baby clutched in her arms. Three of her children disappeared under the yellow water one by one as they clung desperately to bushes and tree branches. Marcot and five children escaped death. Some made high ground safely and others climbed trees.

Bodies of four of the Marcot family were recovered when flood waters began to subside. Mrs. Marcot, 45, had her baby still clasped in her arms. The bodies of Fernand, 7 and Bridget, 14, were nearby. Rose Alma, 20, was swept downstream, searchers believed.

The culvert washout near the town upset the locomotive, tender, two baggage cars and a first-class coach of the Montreal-Quebec express. Engineer O. Cormier and Fireman D. Jobidon were killed in the engine cab. Conductor O. Jobin and several passengers were slightly injured.

British Purchase Roumanian Wheat

BUCHAREST (CP-Havas)—The National Agricultural Institute today announced signing of a contract for 40,000 carloads of Roumanian wheat to be delivered to a British firm.

Another contract, also signed August 26, calls for delivery of 28,000 carloads to a Belgian firm.

These sales followed announcement of new trade regulations which some observers declared were designed to free Roumania from German economic pressure.

Disaster Comes As Families Sleep

Great Confusion in St. Gregoire, Que., When Landslide Crushes House

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. GREGOIRE DE MONTMORENCY, Que. (CP)—Rumbling down a tall precipice, a great mass of rainsoaked earth carried death into a crowded apartment dwelling early today, killing four persons outright, injuring about 12, and, according to doctors supervising rescue work, leaving one boy buried in the building's wreckage.

As pickaxes and crowbars clawed through the crumpled brick and wood ruin that had housed 48 persons, three doctors supervised the rescue work. Caught in their sleep as the downpour of rain loosened a chunk of earth from the 200-foot cliff, the four victims perished almost instantly when the home caved in like matchwood beneath the tons of hurtling soil.

Doctors Henry Talbot, Henry Morin and Adrian Tremblay of St. Gregoire directed rescue operations. A painstaking check through this textile town, nestled beneath the cliff six miles east of Quebec City, had indicated, they said, that all but those listed as dead, missing or injured had been accounted for.

CRIS HEARD

As rescuers worked cries of the imprisoned persons could be heard from beneath the tons of wood, metal and earth. Workers struggling to extricate those trapped, hacking at the debris with pickaxes and other instruments.

One report said that a bolt of lightning at the height of a torrential rainstorm had carved out a jagged slice of cliffside and tumbled it down on the house, but officials held the rain alone responsible.

Eight families were in the building, just five feet away from the side of the tall precipice. The building was just 300 yards from Montmorency Falls, and 100 yards from the river itself.

Confusion swept through the town as the news of the tragedy spread. Sleepy-eyed householders poured from their homes to aid in rescue work.

The press of townsfolk around the crushed building made it difficult at first to ascertain the number of lives lost. Some who escaped were among the crowd, but how many was not known.

The building itself, after the collapse, was flattened out and covered with a coating of shifting gravel through which seeped the cries of those buried alive.

In the street besides the ruins ambulances awaited. Floods along much of the highway from Quebec to St. Gregoire made the going hard for the ambulances.

Deaths, Injuries In Train Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—Two men were killed early today when the Canadian Pacific night train running from Montreal to Quebec was derailed by a washout near Portneuf, 35 miles west of Quebec.

Canadian Pacific officials here said the dead were O. Cormier, engineer, and his fireman, D. Jobidon. Conductor O. Jobin was slightly injured.

A number of passengers were hurt also as one first class coach left the rails with the engine and two baggage cars at the front end of the train. Their injuries were reported as not serious.

Both the engineer and fireman died a few minutes after the heavy engine had lumbered off the track and toppled down an embankment.

Nine Saved As Five Drowned

PORTNEUF, Que. (CP)—Five persons drowned today when storm swollen waters of the Portneuf River washed a house into the river here, 40 miles west of Quebec.

Last night's torrential rains caused the river to overflow its banks and forced many families to abandon their homes. Farmers rowed about in boats, taking women and children to safety.

Mrs. George Marcot and four children lost their lives. Mr. Marcot and eight other Marcot children were rescued from the wrecked house as it was carried away by the current.

The Marcots were in bed when rising water first lapped at the foundations of their frame home on the river bank. The rush of muddy water aroused the family. Marcot and his wife tried to get the children out of the house and to high ground as the house swayed and creaked in the grip of the twisting rush of water.

Eight of the children clung to trees and reached higher ground, shivering in scanty night attire and calling for help. Mrs. Marcot stayed in the house to make sure her children were out.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas told the Mexican Congress today Mexico would not comply with the request of Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, that she cease expropriations of land, and the government would "continue its agrarian program."

Contest of Wits At Racket Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, a star state witness in the racket conspiracy trial of political boss James J. Hines, matched wits with defence counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker today.

The erstwhile "kid" lawyer for the old "Dutch" Schultz mob planted his feet on the top of the witness box, knees level with waist, and grinningly rebutted Stryker's red-faced attempts to elicit flat "yes or no" answers.

The disbarred lawyers, ousted from the New York state bar when his connections with the Schultz policy lottery racket became known, softened his voice, when he admitted his conscience bothered him about taking Schultz's "triggers" and strong-arm mobsters into his mother's home.

"Did it bother you?" demanded Stryker.

"I was bothered all during my dealings with Schultz," he said. "I was in fear of my life."

Davis was wary when the defence counsel attempted to have him recall a specific date when "the Dutchman" summoned Henry Miro, a Harlem policy banker, to a nocturnal mob meeting.

At yesterday's session Davis testified he had paid Tammany Leader Hines approximately $40,000 as political "fixer" for the mob between October, 1932, and July, 1935.

Lindbergh Plane Down

PRAHA (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were reported tonight to have made a forced landing in their plane at Olmutz, in central Czechoslovakia. The report said both were safe.

(Reports said the couple were on the way to Praha from Cluj, Roumania.)

"A TISKET A TASKET"

OUR EARS are being assailed by a swing version of an old nursery rhyme that we used to know as "A Tisket A Tasket," and which still travels, among the jitterbugs, under the same name.

"A Tisket A Tasket" happens to be the No. 1 song hit.

When we inquired about its curious success at Tin Pan Alley's own Mecca—Lindy's Restaurant—this is what we learned:

An anonymous soda jerk is responsible indirectly for the nation's ace tune, and here's the way it came about. Al Wilde, who is press agent for Chick Webb, the swing bandleader, telephoned a local newspaper suggesting that Ella Fitzgerald, the Webb vocalist, would make a good interview. "What's so strange about a vocalist?" inquired the local city editor. "Er—this one is going to swing: nursery rhymes," blurted the press agent. "What rhyme for instance?"

shot back the man who sits on the desk.

At this point, inspiration failed Wilde. He pressed a sweating hand over the mouthpiece and whispered hoarsely to the drug store counterwoman: "For gossakes, name a nursery rhyme." The counterwoman wasted a contemplative second. Then he offered "A Tisket A Tasket."

"Ella will swing 'A Tisket A Tasket,'" announced the press agent.

Then, in the manner of racy publicists, he took to worrying lest his little white lie be found out and hurried Webb until that sepien musician dashed off an arrangement of "A Tisket A Tasket." Ella Fitzgerald liked it so well she called in Al Feldman, a lyric writer, and so a hit was born.

Now that little white lie has earned a sizeable fortune.

He is accompanied by his wife, who has been his companion in world-wide exploratory and hunting expeditions; his nephew, Wm. Lerner, 18-year-old Yale student, and W. J. Oliver, Calgary photographer, who has accompanied Mr. Lerner on several previous trips.

Chief quest on the present trip is the big-horn mountain sheep.

Debutante interest was $458,289, a decrease of $13,660 from 1937.

Labor Test for French Defence

Textile Workers Threaten Strike as Government Mobilizes Industries

PARIS (AP)—France swelled her standing army to 825,000 men today while her government struggled to appease labor opposition to its efforts to mobilize industry behind the national defence.

Tens of thousands of young conscripts started for the French frontier as part of the autumn half of a new military class.

Their numbers raised the standing army strength from the normal 700,000.

Crack troops of France's regular armed forces, meanwhile, reached the climax of mock warfare near Burgundian gate at the junction of France's border with Germany and Switzerland.

Threat of a general strike by 200,000 textile workers of northern France today was added to the troubles encountered by the government in its efforts to line up labor and industry in the national defence.

The textile workers threatened to walk out September 8 unless their demands for continuation of the 40-hour week and higher wages were granted.

The menace followed a warning to Premier Daladier from the General Confederation of Labor, representing 5,000,000 workers, that it would fight any move to establish what would amount to military control of all industries, with lengthened work hours.

TO OFFSET DANGERS

The vigorous protest came after M. Daladier had told a secret session of the Chamber of Deputies' army committee that French security depended on greater production to meet the dangers of a general European war.

The confederation's administrative committee formally declared it considered new decrees lengthening the work week beyond 40 hours outside national defence industries as "null and void," and announced it would support workers who refused to accept the extra hours ordered by the government.

A hope was seen, however, the confederation would take no action likely to create an internal crisis.

A communique and supplementary statement reaffirmed the workers' willingness to accept the additional hours in the national defence industries, although they protested against the method adopted by the government as illegal.

Zanzibar Men Are Domestic

LONDON (AP)—The man's hand rocks the cradle in Zanzibar Island, a British protectorate off the east coast of Africa.

An official report says that "domestic service is performed by males, a few women being employed as nursemaids, although the service is usually performed by males. The extent to which female labor is employed is best conveyed in the expression that 'even the washerwomen are men.'"

LONDON (AP)—Informed persons in London said tonight Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator in the Sudeten German-Czechoslovak crisis, had sent a plea for peace to Reichsfuehrer Hitler through Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten leader.

These persons said Lord Runciman, believing in Henlein's "genuine desire for peace," asked him to deliver the message to the German fuhrer, whom Henlein visited at Berchtesgaden today.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can. Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is most invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tartar, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 40¢ at any drug store.

Tacoma Sawmill Destroyed by Fire

TACOMA (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin last night swept the Hammersmith Lumber Company mill on the Tacoma waterfront.

Witnesses said the entire structure was enveloped by flames, less than 10 minutes after the fire was discovered, shortly after 11 p.m.

Despite the mill's proximity to Tacoma harbor—the structure stood partially on pilings—the city fireboat was unable to get close enough to the fire to aid in combating it because of log booms in the waterway.

Additional loss was averted when firemen succeeded in moving a large electrically-operated railway crane.

B.C. Urged To Pay All Relief

Vancouver Council Has Resolution for B.C. Municipalities Convention

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution calling on the British Columbia government to take immediate steps to assume the entire cost of relief, both unemployment and indigency, will be proposed by Mayor George C. Miller at the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in Nelson September 13 to 15.

The resolution, approved at a special city council session here this week, will urge such additional costs should, if necessary, be met by collection of a special tax.

It will also ask the convention to reiterate the view that relief costs are properly a federal government responsibility and that the action called for in the resolution is urged only as a result of the failure of the Dominion Government to recognize this principle.

Mayor Miller said that if provincial finances were inadequate to absorb the additional relief expenditures, a special provincial tax for the purpose would be far more equitable than the present method of forcing municipalities to contribute.

"With practically only one source of revenue open, the municipalities have been driven to impose the relief load on the property owner, a burden which the land was never intended to carry," he said.

Mayor Miller said that in the eight-year period from 1930 to 1937, inclusive, the city of Vancouver had paid more than $7,000,000 in relief costs, while the estimated expenditure for 1938 would be in excess of $1,100,000.

Movies of Riots New Police Plan

Winnipeg Chief Advocates Measure at Canadian-U.S. Convention

TORONTO (CP)—Chief George Smith of the Winnipeg police force discussed today at the closing session of the International Police Congress the subject of police control of disturbances arising from industrial strikes and disputes.

"I think we are all agreed the use of firearms against a riotous mob should only be a last resort and that the chief weapons of the police in dealing with these mobs should be the night stick and an adequate amount of tear gas," Chief Smith declared.

He opposed all officers being armed, and advocated that only a dozen marksmen be kept in reserve as a last resort to bring down active ringleaders attacking the police.

Chief Smith urged police to have their own motion picture cameramen take pictures of disorders as evidence. He suggested plainclothes men should be in the crowd, otherwise there would be confusion regarding evidence available after the disorder was quelled, police and civilians in hospital, and a number of wounded men under arrest.

ROLE OF EMPIRE

Police should act as umpires in strikes and not as strike-breakers, Director Otto P. Higgins of the Kansas City, Mo., police force declared. He told of his experience in handling more than 200 strikes of various kinds during the past three years "without a fatality or serious injury."

"When a strike breaks, we call in union heads and explain the rights of the union, the employer and the public," Director Higgins explained. "They always agree with us, for every union leader will agree he does not want bloodshed or destruction."

"We call the employer in and lay down the same formula. Additionally we tell him he cannot use armed guards except within his property. This always creates an argument. The employer is mad. If the police won't do it, he'll do it himself. If a man is shot and killed that is too bad, he should not have been there."

"When it is pointed out the actual murderer isn't the man who pulls the trigger but the one who hires him, the employer usually agrees with our rules."

"Officers on strike duty are never permitted to carry clubs. A policeman with a club is apt to use it. It is the great temptation to swing it on someone's head that is many times the match that lights the conflagration."

The team scored 998 points of a possible 1,500, while the Milner team placing second had 963. Sards was third.

In the junior individual judging contest, Olive Turner of Cadboro Bay, Vancouver Island, scored 394 of a possible 500 to win first prize money of $10.

Alph Barichello of Murrayville was second and Jack Savage, Eburne, third.

Leonard Zink, Sardis, placed first in senior individual competition, with James S. Reid, Abbotsford, and Echo Lidster, Langley Prairie, third.

The Colony Farm of Essondale produced a majority of winners in the Holstein division of livestock judging yesterday.

Colony Georgina Netherland took the red ribbon for grand champion of the division as well as the senior championship, two years of age or over. Colony Flood Hangerwood won the junior championship along with the grand champion reserve ribbon.

Two animals from the Canadian Pacific Railway farm at Strathmore, Alta., won the reserve ribbons in the junior and senior divisions. They were Strathmore Lulu Koba Winsome and Strathmore Panay McKinley, respectively.

Dimple of Puyallup Valley, owned by Hart and Gammett of Roy, Wash., won the Guernsey grand championship in dairy cattle judging, along with the senior championship in the same division.

Prize View Madeline, owned by Arthur J. Zink and Son, Sardis, B.C., was junior champion.

Big crowds continued to patronize the fair yesterday. The turnstiles counted 52,707 visitors, a new record for third day attendance. Last year the number attending on the third day was 47,691.

May Yohe Funeral Held at Boston

BOSTON (AP)—A young man who described himself as Robert E. Thomas, Hollywood actor, whose contention that he was May Yohe's son failed to convince a court, was among the mourners yesterday at cremation service for the once-celebrated actress.

He left a floral offering, inscribed "Mother" and signed "Bob," at the bier of the woman who, as Lady Hope, once owned the renowned "Hope diamond" and who died a few days ago as a $16,500-a-week Works Progress Administration employee.

Miss Yohe said, and the New York Supreme Court decreed, that Thomas had not been born to her and her second husband, Putnam Bradley Strong, as Thomas had contended. A friend of the dead actress said Thomas himself recently had become convinced she was not his mother.

Hertzog Supported

CAPTOWN (CP)—The Assembly, lower House of Parliament, last night rejected by a vote of 76 to 17 a motion to censure Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog for recent statements asserting South Africa probably would aid Great Britain in the event of a new European conflict.

The motion was offered by the Nationalist Party, whose members were the only ones to vote for its adoption. The division was taken at the conclusion of a long debate.

Manion for New Economic Basis

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion, national Conservative leader, said in an address here last night he would not be swayed from the course he fixed in his Barry's Bay, Ont., "reform or revolution" speech by criticism from within the party ranks.

Wreck, anarchy and barbarism, ushered in by revolution, would come unless pressing reforms in the economic system—reforms to assure the comforts and needs of life to many now without them—were made soon, he predicted.

"Appalling" was the word used by Dr. Manion to describe an estimate recently given him by a federal official of "the hundreds of millions" spent by Canada on direct relief since the onslaught of depression.

"These millions did nothing but demoralize the people who received them," he said. "The money might better by far have been spent on public works—public works such as roads in New Brunswick. You need more hard-surfaced roads for your tourist traffic."

RESPONSIBILITY

The National Conservative Party must put human rights above special privilege, said Dr. Manion. It must preach and teach that wealth and power are impossible of accumulation without a community and they bring with them a definite responsibility to the community and to the people of the nation.

It was disheartening to think the social conscience was not so keen in Canada as it should be.

"We must awaken a social conscience in this Canada of ours," he said. "It should be a land of huge opportunity. We must correct this relief system of ours."

With 1,000,000 on relief and 500,000 unemployed the Canadian scene could be painted as a sorry picture, he said. The Dominion had everything in the way of natural resources. Production was ample. But the failure was in distribution.

The failure of the distributive system had enlarged the extremes, the rich and the poor, at the expense of the great middle class, the backbone of any nation. To rectify this was the task of a Conservative party bent on a crusade of reform.

"Fire in a High Wind"

ALTHOUGH MANY OF THE DIS- patches from Europe within the last few days have been of a disquieting nature, there is reason to believe that a way will be found to prevent a repetition of the tragedy of 1914, that a Germany much less formidable than she was 24 years ago will succeed in restraining the young man who, for sheer political and territorial ambition, already has out-Hohenzollerned the former Kaiser Wilhelm.

In his Lanark, Scotland, speech last Saturday, Sir John Simon confined himself largely to conditional suggestions in connection with Great Britain's attitude toward any serious violation of Czechoslovakia's treaty rights. But it was by no means lost on Reichsfuehrer Hitler and his advisers in Berlin, while the following extracts from the British Chancellor of the Exchequer's carefully-phrased observations come as a reminder that it is one thing to start a war and quite another to stop it.

"The beginning of a conflict is like the beginning of a fire in a high wind. It may be limited at the start. But who can say how far it would spread or how much destruction it would do or who may be called upon to beat it out?"

"I am convinced that all reasonable persons in every nation must desire to assist rather than hamper him (Viscount Runciman) in his endeavors to bring the several elements of the Czechoslovak problem to a just settlement. It is the duty not only of us but of all others—and we are all concerned in world peace—to do nothing to imperil a satisfactory solution."

"For our part, while there are interests and duties affecting us and our people and the people of the Empire, to protect and discharge which we would fight, we shall at all times bring the whole weight of our influence to bear with a view to the prevention of war in any part of the world, and we shall always be ready to make our contribution to the maintenance of peace."

If we are to assess the foregoing words at a reasonable value we shall assume that they can be construed as an argument in favor of the resuscitation of the League of Nations as a practical working organization. It serves no purpose to emphasize the fact unduly that Sir John has been a member of the cabinet since 1931, under three Prime Ministers, and a witness to the gradual disintegration of the first great peace effort the world had ever seen—a process which began when one of the member states deliberately violated the Covenant to which it had pledged its word, and has ever since persisted in its program of conquest with little more than verbal admonition as its punishment. The tragedy of Ethiopia, the despoiling of Spain, and all that is taking place in Europe today, might have been avoided if democracy—with greater strength seven years ago than it now can command—had implemented the findings of the League of Nations Commission which inquired into Japan's invasion of Manchuria.

If the present dangerous condition in which Europe finds itself, therefore, and if Great Britain—France, Russia, the United States, and such democratic states as are still left to tell the tale—still is in the mood, as we know her people want her to be, "to make our contribution to the maintenance of peace," Sir John Simon has a great opportunity to use his influence with his cabinet colleagues, or opportunity to restore that type of British leadership which lies within Britain's power to give.

The Hines Trial

IF AN ELEMENTARY COURSE IN CIVICS were required for the enlightenment of the ordinary citizen, the trial now proceeding in New York of Mr. James Hines, for long a force in Tammany's realm, would appear to be providing it in full measure. Whether Mr. Hines is acquitted or convicted, his trial is painting in unmistakable colors the classic picture of political corruption in its relation to organized crime.

Some will recall, perhaps, that until the advent of Mayor La Guardia Tammany was supreme on Manhattan. At the same time, the influentially-sinister figure of the underworld was the late Dutch Schultz, and according to the evidence presented so far, Schultz struck a bargain with certain Tammany bigwigs. Under this bargain, Schultz was to operate with the minimum of police interference. In return, the political higher-ups were to get a share of his profits. But the benefits of the two parties did not stop there; for Schultz was able to use this new alliance to force his rivals out of business, while his henchmen provided thousands of illegal votes and did a good deal of useful strong-arm work for the political machine on election days.

The testimony already adduced is as informative as it is nauseating. It reveals the machinations of unscrupulous politicians and bawls the ramified possibilities of an alliance between crime and civic government in a land where "known criminals" seem desperately difficult to catch.

However, if the trial shall compel the application of an effective remedy to the modern phenomenon of large-scale commercialized crime, it may be one of the most useful events of the year as far as civic politics in some United States communities is concerned.

Sweet Reasonableness

FAR BE IT FROM US TO SUGGEST that Premier Hepburn might save himself a good deal of embarrassment if, in his dealings with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, he would do a little more careful thinking before he rushes into print with what savors of a political threat. It is right and proper, of course, that he should desire to know from the leader of the government at Ottawa what, if anything, Parliament is to be asked to do about the St. Lawrence Deep Waterways project. But there is no reason to employ the Mussolinian posture.

Mr. King has replied to Mr. Hepburn's request with an invitation to the leader of the Ontario government to co-operate with the federal authorities in technical examinations and discussions of this long-debated undertaking. If he accepts the invitation, he will be in a position to contribute useful advice and suggestions, as well as keep himself in closer touch with the proposal in all its aspects.

The feasibility and economic wisdom of this project have furnished material for debate in Parliament and in the newspapers of Canada for many years. Interest in it has flared up and waned as conditions have changed from time to time. But Mr. Hepburn should not forget that the Prime Minister of Canada has to consider the proposal from a national standpoint. That is one reason why he is not unduly perturbed by the Ontario Premier's virtual attempt to stampede him into a new pronouncement.

Worker Looks at Business

THE LAST 10 YEARS HAVE BROUGHT subtle changes in thinking which are no less important than the physical changes that can be seen about us. Perhaps they are more important.

One of the most striking is the gradual spread of the conception that any large business is in a sense a public business, and ought not to be operated without some thought of the social effects it produces.

Another gradual change is in the recognition that employees as well as stockholders have an interest in how a business is run. Annual reports showing financial conditions were supplied to employees of 44 prominent companies during the past year, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has revealed.

General Electric and the Jewel Tea Company were pioneers in this innovation. "We have tried to give our employees an understanding of the company—what it earns, what it owes, what it is worth to stockholders," said an official of the latter.

Much labor trouble is due to lack of mutual understanding by employer and employee of their problems. Giving employees an insight into just what the management is faced with in carrying on the business may often smooth the path to co-operation and mutual sympathy, instead of stiff-necked and unintelligent demands. If extended, this practice might well become a stabilizing element in labor relations.

The Real Objective

WHAT OUGHT TO BE CLEAR BY THIS time is the fact that Germany and Italy are not spending their resources in Spain for nothing. It is foolish to think that if Insurgent General Franco should win, Germany and Italy would have no further interest or influence in the future of the peninsula. Both will want as much profit as they can get out of the conflict.

To put it at a modest estimate, the two totalitarian states want to get control of the Mediterranean and the sea passage along the west coast of Africa. Such a development, of course, would be a terrific danger to the British Empire. The only movement of resistance, however, comes from the Spanish Government; "and we"—meaning Great Britain—said Mr. Ramsay Muir, eminent British author and publicist, in a recent speech, "are virtually helping the other side."

The average citizen has about decided Japan and Russia won't fight, he fears.

The tragedy is not that Fascism came into the world, but that it caught democracy making a fool of itself.

The most puzzling thing about Adam's story is why he went to work when Eve had no neighbors to keep up with.

PEGGING WHEAT AND PROFITS

F. M. Black in Financial News
For years the farmers on the prairies have protested with truth—just as now do the people of this province—that they must sell their products in a world market, at prices competitive with all grain-growing nations, while they must supply their own need for goods by purchasing in a protected, unsupervised home market. They realized what is stated in the current issue of News Week with respect to United States that "in terms of farm consumers' goods, wheat is now worth only two-thirds as much as in August, 1933."

It is a conviction, in the western provinces, that years of good crops "made" eastern Canada. If then the Dominion Government considers the wheat-growing industry—after all those recent years of terrible toil, disappointment and poverty—worthy of some encouragement by way of a reasonable guarantee, is its action altogether illogical? If "the taxpayers of Canada may well be mulcted many millions of dollars" by this action of the government, they will at least have the satisfaction of finding the figures in the public accounts, whereas the many millions which are now collected from consumers by industries operating under our protective tariff can be found nowhere in detail, but may be suspected as swelling the profits side of corporation balance sheets.

AS I SEE IT

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

WHEN I CAME to live in British Columbia, about a year ago, many things surprised and pleased me. One of these was the remarkable system of mail order education. In this province it is possible for any normal boy or girl to take the full public and high school course, completely by mail. No matter in what isolated part of the province the pupil lives, if the mail comes the lessons come also. And they are, of course, adapted to the individual needs of the particular scholar.

It is obvious that boys or girls educated in such a way miss much that the community contact which an ordinary school group gives. But the mail order system of education was designed to serve children of isolated settlers who could not possibly attend the standard school. Also, the correspondence pupil gains something which the spoon-fed groups will never get in the same degree—practice in self-help and reliance.

In Victoria there has been an international conference on correspondence education, with participants from as far away as New Zealand. It seems fitting that this should take place where the idea was given practical form, and where B.C. led the world.

OUR CRYING NEED

A FEW YEARS AGO I was privileged to spend some time with Peter Maashiche, the principal of the International Folk High School at Elsinore, Denmark. He had been brought to Canada by groups anxious to spread the idea of community self-help. It is generally agreed among students of social conditions that the people of Norway, Sweden and Denmark are better off than the people of any other countries in the world. There are neither the peaks of wealth for the few, nor the poverty, fear and uncertainty for many which characterize other highly-civilized countries, including those of the English-speaking world.

One reason for this is that the Scandinavian peoples were about the first in Europe to see war in its true light. These Norsemen were descendants of the Vikings, the fiercest fighters in history, and of the Swedes, who were the conquerors of half of Europe. Yet long ago all these people gave up the practice of trying to rule weaker people in backward lands. They realized that the best job of uplift they could do was on themselves, not on the negroes, mongols or arabic peoples.

In Denmark the folk high schools seem to me to be a vital part in the excellent plan for decent living. Boys and girls leave school at about 14 years of age, the Danish theory being that adolescents are better in actual contact with real life on the farm, or in the forestry camp, or what not. Then at about 18 years of age the young people start coming in to the folk schools for three yearly short courses, the girls in one group—the boys in another at a later season.

Everybody works while at school, another Danish idea being that ideas get better lodged in the brain if teaching is alternated with periods of hard work and real sweating. Incidentally, this system keeps the cost very low indeed. All the schools are privately run, with some governmental help and inspection.

There are no diplomas, no degrees. All that anyone takes away is what is in the head or heart. The whole idea is based not on the competition, but on team play and harmony. Every lecture is preceded by a group song.

PUDDING'S PROOF

THE SCANDINAVIAN system works. When the Great War broke out Sweden was in a very serious condition because her normal commerce was ruined. The government set up a National Employment Board whose duty it was to make a list of nationally useful public works, and to have complete plans for carrying them out if and when needed. These were kept up to date from time to time. When the great depression came in 1930 Sweden knew what to do and did it.

Contrast our lack of system in Canada. When the depression came we had no plans of any kind. Then we rushed pell-mell into all sorts of construction, some good, some worse than useless. In Ontario we dug road-side ditches one year and filled them in the next. There was more graft even than usual, because everything was done on a half-cock basis with no real forethought.

Then we stampeded away from public works altogether and concentrated on relief, or the dole. First we opened youth camps, then closed them, then opened them again, then closed them—and now we bribe the former inmates of those camps to roam about the province, wishfully hoping that they won't get together and do again what they did in Vancouver.

All of which comes back to adult education. If democracy is to work in Canada or any other country thousands more adults have got to begin studying the why and wherefore of the present world conditions. As long as we imagine that we can solve our national troubles merely by such moves as putting King out in 1930, and Bennett out and King in in 1935, our progress won't be very genuine.

THOSE SAVANTS

Philological note: A university professor in Manhattan has just claimed that the term "jitterbug" comes from prohibition days, and describes those dipsomaniacs who imbued an illegal beverage known as "jitter-sauce." Feel better now?

THE LADDER TO THE STARS

When I was but a little child
And gazed through nursery bars,
I deemed the tall pine on the hill
A ladder to the stars.

It leaned, its branches stretching high
Against the dome of light,
And touched the glittering barques that ply
The oceans of the night.

And I would oft in fancy go
And climb the swaying pine,
And sail off in a silver boat
To fairy lands of mine.

Ignorance Is Costly

From Toronto Star

ONE OF THE recommendations placed before the Rowell Commission is the establishment by the federal government of a bureau of social research. This recommendation came to the commission from Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary for British Columbia, from the Canadian Association of Social Workers, from the Canadian Teachers' Federation and other groups. The value of research has already been acknowledged by the government through its support of the National Research Council. But this body functions exclusively in the fields of physics, chemistry, mining and other branches of science useful to industry and agriculture. It does not include the field of social science.

The importance of placing under the microscope the problems which affect the mass of Canadian people has been remarked by a number of authorities. In his brief to the commission, Dr. Weir pointed out that $250,000,000 are spent annually by the governments in Canada on social services apart from education, and that much of this expenditure is made on a hit-and-miss basis. In its April, 1938, news letter, the Royal Bank of Canada asks: "What is the present total cost of health legislation in Canada? Are the laws regarding health adequate in those provinces where expenditure is low? What is the real cost of health legislation when part of it is found under labor legislation, part under education and part under welfare? Without a picture of the expenditures for each major purpose of this kind and without knowledge of the efficiency of the results attained, how is it possible to determine the comparative needs of the people in the various provinces?" Similar questions arise with respect to the administration of unemployment relief and the variety of public services in the country.

Judged by expenditures on social research, it is evident what a very starved stepchild it is. Dr. Raymond Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, recently reported that of the expenditures on research in Great Britain and the United States, one-half goes for industrial research, 25 per cent on research connected with military questions and of the remaining quarter, the larger part is devoted to agriculture and the branches of biology which support it. At the tail end comes research in medicine and health, and sliding off almost into nothingness is an infinitesimal fraction devoted to research in the humanities.

Yet fact-finding studies in the social field can be as productive as in the industrial. Preventive medicine depends on such studies, by which millions now spent on disease and its by-products might be saved. The relation between vital statistics and the control of communicable disease is an outstanding example. A knowledge of the relationship between slums and disease, between delinquency and bad homes, between crime waves and educational and recreation facilities, may produce financial as well as moral dividends. Ignorance, particularly in the field of human problems and relations, is costly.

QUEEN TO LAUNCH HER NAME SHIP

Ss. Queen Elizabeth Will Be Floated On Clyde Sept. 27

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP)—The bustling Clyde is preparing to launch its "biggest and best" product—the Queen Mary's sister ship, Queen Elizabeth.

The Queen herself will perform the ceremony at John Brown's Yard, September 27. A description of the ceremony will be broadcast to the world.

Embracing all the superlatives of modern shipbuilding and containing the fruits of Queen Mary experience, the new ship will be impeded by 2,350 tons of drag chains when she rumbles into the narrow Clyde. She will go into service in 1940.

Lines of the ship are more graceful than the Queen Mary and the steep rake of the stern rising 150 feet is delicately proportioned to the rest of the structure as in a racing yacht.

The Elizabeth is 1,030 feet long, 15 feet longer than the Queen Mary and one foot longer than the Normandie, and 85,000 tons, about 3,700 tons heavier than the Queen Mary.

The new ship's beam is 118 feet, deep to top of superstructure 120 feet. The length of one of her 14 decks—the promenade deck—is 724 feet.

There is accommodation for 3,500 passengers.

Three Airports For Alberta

CALGARY (CP)—Next year will be "air year" for Alberta.

Large new commercial airports, being built in the three principal cities, will have their official openings sometime in 1939, other intermediate airfields will be put into operation, and Calgary's Currie Barracks field will be used for the training of air force pupils.

Work on Calgary's new $200,000 civic airport is under way. Owing to delays caused by wet weather during August, work on the Lethbridge airport has not gone ahead as rapidly as was expected. The field will not be ready for the proposed official opening on September 14, and so the exercises will be set over until next year, probably in June.

The suggestion is being considered of a series of air shows next summer to include Lethbridge, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary, as a means of increasing public interest in commercial aviation in Western Canada.

New Regulations Are Delayed

Transportation Legislation Not Effective Today As Scheduled

OTTAWA (CP)—Main features of last session's legislation creating the Transport Commission with jurisdiction over air and water carriage as well as railways, will not be effective September 1 as originally proposed.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, said the "agreed charges" section of the matter of the measure and control of rates for carriage by air would not be placed in operation until later. It had already been indicated that regulations proposed for carriage of package freight between Quebec and head of the lake would not be imposed until January 1, next.

The "agreed charges" provision would enable railways to enter into arrangements with shippers for special rates apart from the regular tariffs and was looked upon as an aid to the rail carriers in meeting competition from highway trucks.

Reorganization of the old Board of Railway Commissioners into a Transport Commission was effected by the measure and the necessary additions to staff and other changes are being made but it was stated necessary adjustments had been completed in time to give full effect to the measure by September 1.

Building Figures Please McGavin

Satisfaction with the increase in building in Victoria, particularly in the home class, was voiced today by Mayor Andrew McGavin when he was informed of the figures which show an increase of 60 per cent in the first eight months of the year.

"The development, particularly in the building of new homes, reflects a growing confidence in the city. When people are prepared to establish permanent residence as construction program would indicate, they must certainly feel the city is in a satisfactory position financially, and that the council's policy will make for an assured stable future. The efforts of the lands committee in stimulating building are particularly worthy of commendation. The committee has been energetic in its successful campaign to popularize Victoria for residential development and while other agencies have also assisted in the construction activity, the city group must come in for its share of praise," the mayor said.

for human consumption—soapy, measly, yellow, flavorless, they cooked badly, and 30 per cent had to be thrown away whole—"whole?" No, rotten right through.

Then we examined the sack. This was marked, unlike the orange label, Grade 2. The label was not filled in, as it should have been. The net weight line was blank. So was the place for license number. On the back was stamped "1937 crop, not valid after February 28, 1938," and across that, in ink, in an educated, very foreign script, "August 28." These were bought in the spring, March, I think.

This is the sort of thing that is going to ruin the last shred of Canada's commercial reputation as a marketing country: her bacon, as shipped during the war to England, destroyed it there for at least a quarter-century. She is now making a terrific effort to gain British markets for her products; but there is not a war on now, the British people will not be bamboozled again. Will Canadian officialdom never learn elementary honesty?

I went today to a city store where I have generally shopped for 20 years, and always had first-rate quality food, including potatoes, until the past few weeks, when their potatoes also have been of quality not as bad as that local buy just described, but far, far inferior to anything I have ever bought in Victoria before. The salesman told me that since the Marketing Act came in the store buyers have no choice—they are just given potatoes, take 'em or leave 'em. Naturally, this is going to ruin the potato market, for more and more people will grow their own. However, give a man enough rope and he'll hang himself; and so will a government. Same citizens won't stand this paternal muck-feeding forever.

Many Interested In Screen Test

Before the week of the Victoria Exhibition, September 10 to 17, it is estimated that almost everyone in Victoria who has an ambition to enter the movies will have enrolled for a screen test with Central Films Ltd., said Kenneth Bishop, yesterday. Hundreds of applications have already been received from people of either sex and all ages.

These tests are designed for a two-fold purpose, in order to indicate to the applicant whether there is a possibility of a screen future, and to build up a casting list of those who may be required for local productions. A special scenario has been written by Reginald Hincks, casting director of Central Films Ltd., for screen test purposes, and when the final selection is made the film will be shown at one of the local theatres. There will be no expense or obligation on the part of the applicant. It is an opportunity such as is very rarely available at Hollywood or elsewhere. Applications for a screen test should be made in writing to Reginald Hincks, Central Films Ltd., Willows. Admission will be open to the public during the filming of the screen tests.

Mr. Hungerford, such a breach of civic good manners is unpardonable.

Who is in a better position to practically help Victoria with regard to use of elevator and proposed airport than Mr. Hungerford? I trust your reporter offered humble apologies for us and succeeded in securing the information requested by Mr. Hungerford.

Alas, of late our civic officials seem to be taking Victoria on a very lengthy detour, nor is the going any too smooth.

STREET CARS OR BUSES?

To the Editor:—After reading in the Times that the city has decided—on the strength of Mr. Beck's recommendation—to substitute gasoline buses in place of the present electric-powered cars, I am asking the following questions in the interest of those who are most concerned, though probably least consulted, the people who are going to use the city's transportation, whatever type it may be. Before asking these questions, let me say that I do not approve of the business methods of the B.C.E.R., nor have I any other motive in writing this letter than to see Victoria have the most suitable form of transportation possible.

First, I would like to know if the gasoline buses are adequate to clear away large crowds in a reasonable space of time, as, for instance, when they decide to come home from the Exhibition Grounds?

Could it be truthfully said that the buses are as safe during bad weather as are the street cars, and would they operate as successfully during these storm periods?

What guarantee have we that the cost of a ride will not exceed the present cost of the same ride? Is it not a fact that if the gasoline buses can operate on a six-cent fare, then the B.C.E.R., using the less expensive electric power, have been overcharging the Victoria public?

Would it not be wiser to replace the present outworn cars with the latest up-to-date models and thus utilize the system already laid down?

These new cars are as noiseless as the buses, fast pick-up, and as comfortable as any bus.

Is there anyone in office in the City Hall who might have personal interests to serve by the inauguration of buses, and would not be likely to use the buses after they were in operation?

Mr. John Dean has gone to much trouble and expense in compiling, and having printed and mailed, a dodger dealing with this matter, and I owe him thanks for some of the thoughts expressed herein.

I would like to remind your readers that the "hydro-electric" power is by far the cheapest form of power to date.

QUESTIONS HIS DEMOCRACY
To the Editor:—Brig-General Sir Henry Page-Croft is in B.C. surveying the possibilities of mass settlement to "safeguard" the Anglo-Saxon peoples upon this continent from penetration by nationals opposed to the ideals of democracy.

First point in this three-point settlement plan reads: "Selection of the settlers must be made carefully so as to bring in the right type."

Will Sir Henry Page-Croft, warmest of General Franco's champions in the British Parliament, kindly reassure us before he goes further with his plan that he sincerely believes in the ideals of democracy.

Airplane Plant To Cost $600,000

Bombers Will Be Assembled at Malton, Near Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Ralph C. Day announced yesterday construction will start within six weeks of a $600,000 assembly plant for bombing airplanes for the British and Canadian Governments at Malton, 14 miles northwest of Toronto.

The assembly plant will receive airplane products from 10 aircraft companies operating in different parts of Canada.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, Mayor Day and E. L. Cousins, general manager of the Toronto Harbor Commission, met last night and reached an agreement on operation of Malton airport. The Dominion will assume all costs of operating the airfield during a two-year period ending December 31, 1940, paying the city an annual $1 rental fee for 761 acres. TransCanada Airlines will build hangars immediately at Malton airport.

Toronto will retain control of the remaining 789 acres there. "As to the use of the island airport," Mayor Day said, "the Transport Minister is in conference with the United States Department of Commerce officials as to the inter-change of flying rights between Canada and the United States, and until this is clarified, details of island airport operations will be left in abeyance.

"I am reliably informed an assembly plant for a group of 10 Canadian firms will be built at Malton within six weeks giving employment to 2,000 skilled and unskilled laborers," said Mayor Day.

Candidate For Nanaimo Riding

DUNCAN—Capt. R. B. Longridge has consented to allow his name to be put up for nomination as Conservative candidate at the convention of the Nanaimo federal riding, to be held here September 10. While Capt. Longridge has only been in residence in Duncan for two years, he first came to the province in 1912, when he settled in the Kamloops district and engaged in farming. While at Kamloops he was for several years president of the local branch of the Canadian Legion and afterwards first vice-president of the Provincial Command. He served with the Imperial forces in the 16th Lancasters and the R.A.F.

Letters to The Editor

STATE CAPITALISM

To the Editor:—A news item to the effect that workers in a steel industry had decided to discuss "industrial peace and co-operation with the management" caused one to think, for a moment only, that the relations of employer and employee of medieval times were about to be renewed. But the question arose, "What basis is there for such peace and co-operation?" If, as socialism says, "Capital is essentially an exploiter and labor is the exploited," what kind of co-operation can be expected, and how long would industrial peace endure?

Perhaps this proposal of a conference indicates industrial war weariness and an acknowledgment that capital cannot be subjected to the whims of labor. Or maybe an awakening to the knowledge that without a code of moral principles, accepted by both sides and to which either can appeal, agreements are merely expediency and establish only a truce. What is wanting in democracies is the working in harmony of the different groups and classes, each interest subordinating itself to the common good instead of using its political and economic power only for selfish purposes as heretofore. That necessitates a general agreement on social and economic rights and responsibilities.

John Stuart Mill, who professed no religious affiliation, realized that the guidance of moral and material power was necessary to the harmony of the two interests, and apparently regretted that the guidance of the Catholic Church as exercised prior to the 16th century had been destroyed, for he wrote: "The church continued to rear its mitred front in courts and palaces, but not as in the days of Hildebrand and Becket, as the champion of arts against arms, of the serf against the seigneur, peace against war, of spiritual principles against the domination of animal force."

Democracies are blundering with policies which are forced by selfish class interests, and un-economic, with chronic unemployment as the result, because we have failed to reconcile economic and social needs. This failure is due to want of a true and generally accepted basis for our social and economic life. Capitalism admits the right of the individual to all he can get; socialism denies the individual the right to anything beyond what the state wishes to allow. What we need is a modern equivalent of medieval principles when men recognized the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God.

MARKETING TYRANNY

To the Editor:—During 27 years' residence in B.C., only once or twice, and then in the Columbia Valley during midwinter, have I had to eat nasty potatoes—until this Marketing Act came in. Directly after this my local grower pointed out a "special," 25 pounds for 50 cents, which wasn't cheap. But he evidently overloaded himself with this "special," labeled Grade 1. So I took a bag, and on its arrival found it a Marketing Board affair. The potatoes were unfit

HOW TO BUY BY GRADE

When ordering your eggs, poultry, canned fruits and vegetables, and creamery butter, ask for the quality you want, by grade—then look for the grade mark on your purchase. When you buy by grade, you buy with confidence.

EGGS

The Government grades of Eggs are GRADE "A", GRADE "B", GRADE "C"

GRADE A (three sizes: Large, Medium, Pullet), best quality, suitable for poaching, boiling, frying; GRADE B, good quality; slightly inferior to Grade A for poaching, boiling, frying, but entirely suitable for cooking purposes; GRADE C, lowest graded quality. Graded poultry may be identified readily by a coloured tag on the wing or breast of the bird. Grade names are marked clearly on egg containers.

POULTRY

The Government grades of Poultry are GRADE "A", GRADE "B", GRADE "C"

GRADE A, superb birds, well-fleshed, especially fattened for tenderness and flavour; GRADE B, good birds but not as well-fleshed, fattened or flavoured as Grade A; GRADE C, lowest graded quality. Graded poultry may be identified readily by a coloured tag on the wing or breast of the bird. Grade names are marked clearly on egg containers.

Heavy Entry of Outside and Local Craft for Cordova Bay Regatta

Speedboats will churn up the waters of Cordova Bay on Labor Day when the Vancouver Island Outboard Association stages its international regatta.

According to Bert James, secretary, a strong field has already been assured for the meet, which is expected to produce plenty of keen competition and thrills for the spectators. Entries, ranging from outboard midgits to 225 cubic inch inboards, have been received from Seattle, Vancouver, Wenatchee, Chelan, up-island points, as well as locally. Time trials will open the meet at 11. Eleven events, including novelty races, are on the program.

Eighteen Victoria speedsters will be on hand and as some have really speedy crafts the invading experts should get some good opposition.

VISITING SPEEDSTERS

Wenatchee's Frank Sonntag, who has been seen in action here a number of times, will return with a new craft powered with a Model A Ford motor, while C. Lafferty of Chelan, who now has possession of Sonntag's former boat, will also be on hand. W. L. Van Dyke from Seattle will be riding in defence of the cup he won last year in his famous "Water Dog". Van Dyke is com-modore of the newly formed Northwest Inboard Racing Association, and will bring over a number of his club members with their speedy crafts for the regatta. They will include Dave Leclerc, Lorne Garden, Ted Jones and Don MacCrae.

Vancouver will be represented by three or four boats. In this fleet there will be Bob Stacey formerly of the local association, with his "Shooting High". Cliff Sangster and James White are other Vancouverites entered. White has a newly-designed in-board with a "souped up" model A Ford motor under the hatch. Among other outsiders expected are: Len Kaller, Wenatchee; Mason Hurley and Angus, Shannigan lake, Jack Clark, Nanaimo, and Dr. Asperman, Bellingham.

Victoria entries follow: Walter Pearce, Russell Lyall, Alex Croft, Don Wilkinson, Watson Smith, Harry Payne, Brock Robertson, Harold Cleaves, Len Butler, Irving Earl, Cammie Cameron, Norman Grice, Rolly Hibbard, Louis Schmelz, Joe Howroyd, Paul Stromkins, Jack Martin and Hugh Aylmer.

The day's program will be wound-up with a dance in McMorran's Pavilion in the evening, when prizes will be presented. Mrs. T. Y. Baldwin, chairman of the social committee, is looking after arrangements for entertainment for visiting racers.

Three More Tests On New Deal

Democratic Primaries Soon in New York, Maryland and Georgia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heaviest United States primary election month of 1938 began today with three major defeats chalked up against the administration of President Roosevelt, and three straight-out New Deal contests still to be decided.

Administration lieutenants hope primaries in Maryland, Georgia and New York will offset reverses suffered by the President Tuesday in the victory of Senator Ellison D. Smith, South Carolina, Democrat, and the defeat of Senator William C. McAdoo, California Democrat.

The only other major upset for the administration this year was in Idaho, where Senator James P. Pope lost to Representative D. Worth Clark, self-described conservative Democrat.

Two other Democratic senators—Herbert Hitchcock of South Dakota and George L. Berry of Tennessee—lost renomination battles, but support of the President's policies was not at issue.

Most politicians agree some of the remaining primary contests will involve the President's prestige even more than any already held.

Mr. Roosevelt has denounced by name Senators Walter George of Georgia and Millard Tydings of Maryland and Representative John O'Connor of New York.

Another test of direct presidential intervention will come in Georgia September 15. The President has said he hoped Senator George would be defeated by Lawrence Camp.

REPUBLICAN CONTENT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A see-saw race for the Republican nomination for United States senator from California stole the show today as Sheridan Downey ran his Democratic victory margin in Tuesday's primary to more than 100,000 votes over Senator William McAdoo.

Philip Bannock, advocate of drastic relief reform including curtailment of Works Progress Administration "extravagance," swung back into a narrow lead over Ray L. Riley, veteran state official, for the Republican nomination.

Ruin for California was forecast by Senator McAdoo if the voters adopted the "30 every Thursday" pension plan, which he blamed for his defeat. The proposal to pay all non-working people over 50 years old $30 a week in scrip money will appear on the November ballot.

NEW VANCOUVER WAR MEMORIAL

Boulder Honoring 29th Battalion Unveiled by Lieutenant-Governor

VANCOUVER (CP)—A simple granite boulder on the Canada Pacific Exhibition grounds today perpetuated the memory of the Tigers' Association, 29th (Vancouver) Battalion of the Great War.

The monument was unveiled and dedicated by Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber yesterday in the presence of members of the Canadian Legion and other spectators.

"The glorious exploits of the battalion, participating as it did in the battles of St. Eloi, Ypres, the Somme, Vimy, Hill 70, Lens, Passchendaele, Amiens, Arras, Cambrai, Mons and in other engagements is a record that not only a battalion of itself might be justly proud, but is pre-eminently a matter of pride to Canadians in general and Vancouver in particular," the Lieutenant-Governor said.

After the unveiling, legion members filed past the memorial, casting poppies on its base.

ROBERT TAYLOR GOES TO ALASKA

Crowd on Vancouver Wharf Sees Departure of Hollywood Movie Star

VANCOUVER (CP)—Milling crowds of Vancouver cinema fans watched Robert Taylor, Hollywood star, depart last night on the Canadian Pacific steamship Princess Louise for Skagway.

Hundreds stood on the dock before the ship sailed, throwing to the deck anything from shoes to scraps of wood on which the actor could write his name and toss back into the crowd above.

Taylor arrived here by plane yesterday, spent the day quietly in a private home and then made his unannounced departure, somehow, however, an unusually large crowd watched the sailing.

Auto Camps and Holiday Resorts

Island Resorts Ready for Labor Day

A week-end with a Monday holiday following turns the thoughts of everyone into the channel of how best to spend the leisure time. Automobile engines are tuned up, a hundred and one plans are made and the holiday is looked forward to with eager anticipation.

Labor Day is always a favorite holiday with pleasure seekers. The weather has mellowed to a tantalizing mixture of summer heat and autumn's exhilarating cool. The foliage, heavy and abundant, is tinted with the first tints of fall. There's a breath-taking sense of waiting and an exciting hint of beauty still to come. Then too, there is the knowledge that Labor Day is the last long week-end of the summer season.

ISLAND RESORTS

Many of the hotels and auto camps that have given such excellent service during the summer months to the visiting tourists, will remain open through the autumn. Fishing is just coming to its peak on the island and will be increasingly popular during the coming weeks. As long as there is sunshine, Vancouver Island's great outdoors will be thoroughly enjoyed. Week-ends and longer holidays in September and October are very often the pick of the whole holiday season.

Warns Canada of Ship Competition

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada should be building new ships and the British and Canadian governments subsidizing the vessels by mail or other means to enable them to cope with increasingly serious competition. R. S. Dalgleish of Newcastle, England, stated here. Mr. Dalgleish, head of a steamship line which bears his name, said "Great Britain has 2,000 less ships than in 1914, and if Canada does not watch out she will have lost the Pacific Coast trade to the modern Japanese ships." The steamship head is en route to England following his visit to the Pacific Coast.

ZEPPELIN TO TAKE TO AIR LZ-130 To Be Tested With Hydrogen as Helium Not Available

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany (AP)—Germany's latest Zeppelin, the LZ-130, is to take to the air for the first time next week, lifted by hydrogen gas as was the Hindenburg because non-inflammable helium still is not available. Dr. Hugo Eckener, pioneer in Zeppelin navigation, is to be in command of the flight to demonstrate his belief in the soundness of dirigible principles despite the destruction by explosion of the Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N.J., May 6, 1937.

The new ship will carry a crew for training purposes only, and passengers are not to be carried until she is filled with helium. The LZ-130 is 738 feet long, with 7,062,800 cubic feet gas capacity, 4,400 motor horsepower, and accommodations for 40 passengers.

In Novi Sad, Yugoslavia, you are not permitted to look into the mouth of the horse you are thinking of buying, under penalty of a heavy fine. The law has helped to curb the spread of stock diseases in that country.

TAKE ACTION ON SCHOOL CHEQUE

Saanich School Board Passes
Resolution Following Explanation by Reeve

Question over the technical requirements under the School Act regarding the signing of cheques by the reeve was raised by the Saanich School Board last night following an instance in which Reeve William Crouch had placed his signature on a cheque for which application had been made by the son of an employee, alleged with the employee's consent.

At the time the cheque was signed, the son had stated quite definitely the advance, amounting to $45, had been authorized by his father, Reeve Crouch stated in a letter of explanation to the board.

Following the reading of the letter the following resolution was passed:

"We wish to call the attention of the reeve to a clause in the School Act which states the school board must authorize the payment of all cheques, the same to be signed by the treasurer. This school board has no objection to the reeve's continuing the practice of signing school cheques, provided the aforementioned clause has first been complied with."

The reeve, in his letter, briefly outlined the circumstances under which the transaction was made.
"It now appears that the facts were not as represented to me and that in any case the latter cheque was not requested by the employee. As soon as I heard of this I went to the employee in question and out of my own pocket I put up the money that was paid without his knowledge or consent. At this time I am the only person injured as I am out the sum of $45," the letter said in part.

NO MONEY WASTED
"During the past 12 years I have signed cheques to the value of over $3,000,000 for the municipality and the school board, and as far as I know, not one cent has been lost to the people of Saanich through any cheques signed by me. This fact, I think, proves that my actions have been in good faith," the letter further stated.

As the result of a recent theft of a radio-gramophone combination and piano stool from Mount View High School, the board accepted the recommendation of acting police chief Sergeant Eric Elwell to change the locks on the school and issue only four keys to the building. Of 39 keys to the school, the police can trace only 2 at present.

The board decided not to demolish Lake Hill School following reception of a petition with 50 signatures which sought its continuance on the grounds children would have to walk too far to the next closest school to thrift district.

A letter from the Victoria School Board seeking establishment of a Greater Victoria school district was received and filed.
Trustee E. C. Warren stating such a move would not be in the best interests of Saanich.

MUCH DISCUSSION resulted when Henry Helf and Frankie Pytlak caught baseballs tossed from atop the 708-foot 'Terminal Tower' in Cleveland. The Indian catchers were credited with breaking the altitude record established 30 years ago when Gabby Street snagged a pellet thrown from the top of the 555-foot Washington Monument.

The original Billy Sullivan, Wally Schang and Ray Schalk duplicated Street's accomplishment. Speaking a baseball from a high elevation is a highly overrated stunt, however. "Catching that ball at the base of the monument was quite a thrill," says Street, now manager of the St. Louis Browns, "but I realized when the ball was 100 feet or more from the ground that I was going to catch it if I could get my hands on it. Judging the flight of the ball is the only feat. If he can do that properly, any ball player can catch a ball from a great height."

Helf and Pytlak made the 708-foot catches in Cleveland look ridiculously easy. As a matter of fact, Helf, the third-string Indian receiver, made a one-handed catch of his ball. The pellet bounced out of his glove and he grabbed it with both dukes.

Experts figured the balls were traveling 138 miles an hour, or 202 feet a second, when they reached street level. Yet the ball speared by Helf didn't even hand-cuff his glove hand. And yet both hands of an outfielder are often handcuffed by a line drive. The Cleveland catches cannot be considered world records, for, in 1918 catches were made from an airplane the altimeter of which recorded more than 770 feet. The stunt was arranged to entertain flying cadets at Kelly Field.

Those who caught the balls were George Lane Kelly, who was to become an outstanding first baseman with the New York Giants, and Michael Angelo Besolo, a semi-pro player from California. "It was quite windy that afternoon, but Kelly caught his ball with a first baseman's mitt with the altimeter at 778 feet," says Wayne Otto, Chicago baseball writer who was one of the committee to arrange the stunt. "And Besolo made a back of the neck catch of his with nothing more than an infielder's glove."

"Heigh doesn't make much difference if there are no indestructible air currents and you can follow the ball," says Muddy Ruel, the Chicago White Sox coach who dropped just two foul balls in 20 years of catching. "Air acts as a cushion for the ball."

"The toughest foul to catch is one hit directly above the plate," asserts Gabby Hartnett, who has dropped or lost only two in 16 campaigns. "It's no trick at all when the ball travels in its natural arc. That gives you something by which to judge it."

So, in the matter of catching baseballs tossed from a lofty elevation, it would seem that somebody has been kidding somebody, ever since Gabby Street made himself famous by spearing one heaved from the top of Washington Monument.

Detroit—Milton Shivers, 158, Detroit, outpointed Vincenzo Triano, 154, Italy (10).

The fanning Bee was in full blast. The subject under discussion was the year's hard-luck champion—the manager who's been taking it on the chin the most from old man jinx, and still sticking.

Nearly all hands were willing to admit none was in the same league with Casey Stengel, that no one pilot had a weaker lot to start with, ran into more hospital-punching, and still was in there punching.

Jimmy Dykes and his Chicago White Sox, of course, were counted out last spring when Luke Appling broke a leg. Their best to date is the American League's sixth place, despite occasional flashes, like the four-hit Johnny Whitehead pitched to top the Washington Senators 7 to 0 yesterday.

Everyone knows Bill Terry's troubles with the New York Giants: Hubbell's left arm on the shelf; Jojo Moore out for some time with an injured leg; Catcher Harry Danning sidelined with a kidney ailment, and Hal Schumacher with a sore shoulder. Still the Giants are in second place, although six and a half games back of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The New Yorkers took the opener yesterday, 6 to 5, on a run in the ninth, but then the Bucs banged out 16 hits for a 12 to 3 nightcap win.

One of the larger reasons the Giants hang on, however, is because Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds get as jittery when they come within shouting distance. Yesterday the Cubs had another chance to climb into the runner-up spot but fell apart in the ninth inning, lost to Stengel's Boston Bees 6 to 4, and dropped to fourth place.

This left the Bees two games over the 500 mark, in fifth place and only four and one-half games out of the first division. The Reds trounced Brooklyn Dodgers 9 to 3 in a night tilt behind the eight-hit flinging of Red Barrett in his major league starting debut to take third place from Chicago by half a game.

Thus, it is conceivable that Stengel's aging and ailing athletes may yet wind up in the money. Casey, to begin with, had a minus quantity so far as power is concerned. Then Gene Moore went out for the year with an ailing leg; Debs Garms, promising recruit, has been on the sidelines off and on; Stengel has had to shift three men around on first and third bases all year; Al Lopez, number one catcher, was laid up for weeks with a hand injury.

Deacon Danny MacFayden, front line pitcher, broke a finger and was out for nearly six weeks, and Milt Shoffner had a surgeon working on his insides.

Yesterday's American League headlines saw the Detroit Tigers trounce the New York Yankees 12 to 6, with Hank Greenberg hitting homer number 46 to remain in front of Babe Ruth's 1927 record pace. Don Budge and Alice Marble Top Seeded For United States Championships, Opening September 8 at Forest Hills

NEW YORK—Don Budge, who already has won the Australian, French and Wimbledon tennis titles this year, will be seeded No. 1 for the United States championships, September 8 to 17, at Forest Hills, N.Y., when the draw is made today.

Yet in spite of Budge's eminence, and in spite of the fact he is an odds-on favorite to win his second straight national singles title, the tournament promises to be one of the best in years.

Heading the invaders will be the Australians, opponents of Budge and Co. in the challenge cup round—Adrian Quist and John Bromwich, the two-man team; Leonard Schwartz, their spare, and Harry Hopman, their veteran non-playing captain.

COAST LEAGUE

Two impressive pitching performances enabled Sacramento Solons to push within two and a half games of first place in the Coast Baseball League today.

The Senators shut out Portland Beavers twice last night, 1 to 0 and 6 to 0, as Lee Sherrill pitched four-hit ball in the opener and Dick Newsome limited the Beavers to three hits in the seven-inning nightcap.

Los Angeles saw its league leadership reduced when Dominic Dallessandro, San Diego outfielder, pounced out his 18th homer of the season in the seventh inning with one man on to give the Padres a 4 to 3 win.

Third place Seattle shared a twin bill with Hollywood Stars. The Suds took the opener 9 to 2 as Freddie Hutchinson limited the Stars to five hits for his 23rd win of the year. The Stars came back with a vengeance in the second game and pounded out an easy 11 to 2 victory.

The cellar Oakland Acons, who have lost an even 100 games to date, dumped the San Francisco Seals twice, 2 to 1 and 6 to 1.

dash, opening event on the program which gets under way at 1.
Expected to be one of the highlights of the women's events is the 100 and 60-metre dashes, where Barbara Howard of Vancouver and Arion Borden of Powell River will seek to settle their sprint rivalry.
Margaret Bell, star Canadian high jumper and member of the Dominion's team to the British Empire Games at Sydney, has entered in her favorite competition with her principal opposition expected to be Darlene Woodburn of Victoria and Reta Powell of Powell River.

THE AVERAGE MOVIE-GOER SPEAKS HIS MIND...

IT'S HARD for a fellow like me who thinks apple pie is one of nature's greatest gifts to man to believe that there are folks who honestly don't like it at all.

On the other hand, I can't abide liver and bacon—though I know it's highly regarded by many.

We all have our likes and our dislikes. We're all different—thanks be! A dull world it would be if we weren't.

That's why I say that the most remarkable thing about motion pictures is that they hit such a high average of pleasure-giving.

Take any individual picture and you'll find that most people who see it will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Not all, naturally. For example, I think a certain star is tops—while, to hear the way my next-door neighbor goes on about her, you'd think she wasn't good enough to be an "extra".

Or my wife sees a picture during the afternoon and raves about it at dinner. Maybe son and I take it in that evening—and come home feeling that Mother is losing her judgment. And there you are. It's the apple pie situation all over again.

But, taking them all together, I figure that the "movies" give more pleasure to more people at a lot less cost than most anything the mind of man was ever responsible for—and have done the human race more downright good than all the medicines concocted since creation.

And I'll say this: The times when I've been disappointed in a picture have been a lot fewer than the other times when I've gone to see one I wasn't especially excited about in advance and been mighty glad I did.

Sure, I criticize the pictures. I pay my money and that's my right. As a matter of fact, I kind of figure that it's the criticism of average folks like me that's largely responsible for the pictures getting better and better all the time.

Trade Treaty Extended

Canadian-New Zealand Pact Will Run Till September 30, 1939, With New Butter Shipment Basis.

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP Reuter).—Finance Minister Nash today announced extension for one year of the Canada-New Zealand trade pact. He expressed the opinion that the extension of the pact would benefit New Zealand and aid the butter trade in particular.

The Trade and Commerce Department, in announcing in Ottawa late yesterday extension of Canada's trade agreement until September 30, 1939, revealed the government's decision to cancel the exchange dumping duty against New Zealand butter imports.

In return for this concession the New Zealand government agreed to cooperate as far as possible by limiting butter shipment to such proportions as not unduly to prejudice the interests of Canadian producers.

The dumping duty was imposed at the time New Zealand currency was depreciated and also at a time when the government there had virtually no control over butter exports.

Now that New Zealand money has been maintained so long at the same level and is considered stabilized, and with the government having assumed all control over butter exports, the dumping duty has been removed.

In 1933 Canada bought from New Zealand goods to the value of $696,000 and sold goods to New Zealand to the value of $3,611,000. For the 12 months ended with June last these figures respectively had increased to $5,187,000 and $16,552,000.

10 Days Given On Fraud Cases
 John F. W. Drury, convicted yesterday on three charges of obtaining goods by false pretences, was sentenced to 10 days' hard labor on each of the three counts by Magistrate Hall in City Police Court today. Sentences were made concurrent, starting yesterday.

With sentence, the magistrate issued a warning that any future misdemeanor would receive more rigorous treatment. He noted the accused had slipped into the practice of writing small cheques and passing them on local merchants. Because the merchants did nothing, he had been allowed to get away with the fraud. Later the cheques had been increased and goods had been illegally obtained for resale.

The application for the loan, at 2 per cent interest, had the support of the city council and was approved by the British Columbia government.

"Racket Busters" At Dominion

"Racket Busters," Warner Bros.-Cosmopolitan production which opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre is an absorbing, gripping, upsetting tale fashioned around a topic taken right from the front pages of today's newspapers.

The title is self-explanatory. The picture, made from an original screen play written by Robert Rossen and Leonardo Bercovic, is a thoroughgoing expose of the cancer racketeering. Heading the cast of "Racket Busters" are such players as Humphrey Bogart in the role of a big-time racketeer, George Brent, Gloria Dickson, as his wife, Allen Jenkins and Walter Abel.

Colbert, Cooper, As Comedy Team

Appearing in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" in Oak Bay Show

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a brilliant new comedy team, while the direction of Ernest Lubitsch brings out the punch of the French background, in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the picture of life among Europe's smart set, which Paramount presents today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

The story, adapted from the famous play of Alfred Savoir, tells about a much-married multimillionaire who is subdued and put into a straight-jacket by his eighth wife, whom he marries for a new thrill. Miss Colbert is the same flip, ingenious girl who made screen history in last year's "I Met Him in Paris." Cooper, as the philanderer, plays opposite her.

After becoming the bride of the much-married financier, Miss Colbert starts a campaign to bring him to his knees and humble his pride.

"Holiday" to Be Shown at Atlas

A new Katharine Hepburn, glowingly human, gloriously modern! Defying the conventional world of society because she's in love! A new Cary Grant, his madcap humor bubbling beneath the weight of a career he wants to discard! A blue-blooded girl and a red-blooded boy prove that what the world needs is a bigger and better "Holiday!"

The Columbia production of Philip Barry's brilliant stage comedy-romance opens tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre.

Parisian Drama At Plaza

"The Rat" Highlighted By Thrilling Underworld Fights

A vibrant drama of Paris highlighted by thrilling fights in the underworld, the shadowing of notorious criminals by the French police and the romantic affairs of a jewel crook comes today to the Plaza Theatre in "The Rat."

Based on the popular stage play of a few years ago, the new dramatic opus boasts the starring team of Ruth Chatterton and Anton Walbrook and a host of prominent players in support. To insure the authentic atmosphere of Montmartre, the cast was assembled in Paris by Director, Jack Raymond.

Featured in the cast are Rene Ray, Mary Clare, Beatrix Lehmann and Felix Aylmer, while the players in support include Hugh Miller, Gordon McLeod, Frederick Culley, Nadine March, George Merritt, Leon Genn and Fanny Wright.

"The Rat" is based on the popular stage play by Ivor Novello and Constance Collier. RKO Radio releases this Imperator production.

Charlie McCarthy In Capitol Show

Just a simple letter of introduction. But it provides some of the greatest dramatic moments ever seen on any screen in Universal's "Letter of Introduction," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre.

First of these moments occurs when Andrea Leeds, as Kay Martin, takes the letter to Adolphe Menjou, as John Mannerling, screen and stage idol. For then Menjou discovers that Andrea is his daughter, whose existence he never had suspected.

And through this same letter of introduction, Menjou meets Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, and helps them become the greatest figures in the entertainment world.

"Ridin' the Lone Trail," Columbia

It is stage coach robbery and murder on the range that cause the gripping complications in Republic's latest western release, "Ridin' the Lone Trail," which opens today at the Columbia Theatre, starring Bob Steele.

This promises to be a new and streamlined western, extraordinary emphasis having been placed by Director Sam Newfield on photography and sound.

Bob Steele, who won such flattering acclaim last year through his series of outstanding westerns for Republic, has been brought back by public demand, and it appears that just as long as fans swarm theatre managers with requests for more Steele pictures, just so long will Steele pictures be made.

There is plenty of mystery and high suspense in "Ridin' the Lone Trail," and this element, added to some outstanding action scenes give the plot a flavor of thrilling excitement.

Denmark Marks 150 Years of Farm Freedom

Agricultural Reclamation Built Nation of Butter-and-egg Men

LONDON—Little Denmark this year is celebrating 150 years of freedom of her once badly-tied peasant farmers and of the success of her agricultural system. As late as 1788 Denmark still had the medieval system of villeinage. That meant that small tenant peasant farmers had to do all kinds of feudal labor for their landlords. Then this was terminated and the governments of the day began the task of making of the peasant a landowner in his own right. Another landmark occurred in 1864 when military Prussia picked a fight with the Danes, whipped them and stole Schleswig-Holstein. The truncated little country had to learn how to live.

The problem did not become easier as the years passed. Emigration, largely to America, ceased because of restricted quotas. The government had to find ways of taking care of the increasing population. Without coal, iron and other raw materials, it was not possible to make of Denmark a second industrial Belgium. The authorities decided to keep Danes on the land.

Big estates were broken up into small farms. Usually the government buys the land, divides it, builds the farmhouses and barns. A water supply is arranged and also electricity for light and power.

The average farm is only 15 acres. But the average Danish small farmer finds this sufficient. He, his wife and children do all the work. The average farmer specializes in the things Denmark principally exports—butter, bacon and eggs. His farm will have from 8 to 10 cows, with usually 4 calves, 20 pigs, a couple of horses and plenty of hens. In his fields he grows much of the feed his livestock needs. In establishing him on such a farm the government largely finances him. The average capital needed is about $7,000. The farmer supplies $700 of this. The rest he gets in a loan from the government. The interest to be paid is not arranged in advance. It depends upon the index of prices brought by farm produce. In bad times, it sinks to 2 per cent. In good times, it does not rise above 6 per cent. This the minimum interest he pays is $126 per annum and the maximum $378.

As is well known, the 200,000 small farmers of Denmark have developed co-operative societies to a very high degree. Through them the farmer buys his extra feeding stuff and fertilizers at low prices. Through them, also, he markets his butter, bacon and eggs. The co-operatives not only carefully grade these products, so as to have a uniform, high quality for export, but the government also carefully watches it. But that is only part of Denmark's story. Being a small country, there was a limit to the large estates which could be cut up into small ones. So the next thing was to reclaim land not in use. Shortly after the war with Prussia, the Danish Health Society was founded. It took as its slogan the principle that as Denmark had lost fertile provinces to Prussia, it must win new ones from waste lands.

There was a big stretch of such land in West Jutland, facing the North Sea. It was an area of heather, moor and sand. The health society pointed the way and later the government took a hand. First the soil was ploughed up, so as to put the heather beneath. Then it was given a heavy top dressing of marl, which is plentiful in other parts of Denmark. Then later again there was added phosphate, potash and nitrogenous substances. At last the soil was ready for cultivation. But even then parts were reserved for planting fir and pine to act as brakes against the bitter winds from the North Sea. And thrifty Denmark was never like wasteful America. Every time a Dane cuts a tree, he must plant trees.

Another way of gaining more land for farming was to drain the marshy fens. In time there will be no waste lands in Denmark.

It required 36 years to complete the Washington monument.

The Value of Sharks

People do not like sharks. In fact we may say there is a general hatred of these fish. Reasons for the hatred are not hard to find. Most kinds of sharks have very ugly faces. Another "sin" is the fact that sharks often eat food fishes caught in nets.

Tail of a whale shark.

The main reason, however, is fear. People have heard that these fish are man-eaters, and don't like to think of being cut up when they swim in the ocean. The emotion called "fear" usually starts from fear. If a person is afraid of another person, he is likely to say he "hates" him.

In the case of some sharks, there is reason to be afraid. Members of the shark family may kill swimmers, and such sad events have happened time and again. Most ocean bathing beaches in the north temperate zone are not visited, however, by dangerous sharks.

We should remember that not all sharks are man-killers. Out of scores of shark varieties only a few kinds are known to have attacked human beings. The largest of all sharks—the whale shark—is not classed as dangerous.

Yesterday I spoke of shark fisheries. The fishermen do not capture the fish just to get them out of the sea so they won't hurt anyone! That would be too long a job!

What the fishermen want to do is to make money. They can sell the sharks they catch. A hundred large sharks sent to market may bring as much as $2,000 or $2,500.

One day I ate "shark steak" at a restaurant. I haven't gone back to get any more of it, but it tasted fairly good. In China shark fins are highly prized, and a restaurant patron may pay five Chinese dollars ($1.50 in our money) for a dish of shark fins.

A more important use for sharks has grown up in recent years. Their livers are a source of oil, and are about as rich in vitamins as cod livers. What a liver a shark has! A tiger shark 12 or 15 feet long may have a liver weighing from 125 to 200 pounds. From 12 to 16 gallons of oil may be obtained from the liver of a single fish.

Sharks' teeth are valued in some parts of the world, and are used as money in certain islands of the Pacific. In China rickshaws made from sharks' teeth have been popular.

Sharks don't have scales, but their bodies are covered with small sharp points. Sharkskin has been dried and used instead of sandpaper to polish fine-grained wood. A process has been found to take off the points, and to tan the skin to make leather. Sharkskin shoes have met with favor because the leather is soft and wears well.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline, but do not compel.
Friday, September 2, 1938

Again the stars presage flu-tuating good and bad luck for dwellers on the earth. According to astrology conflicting planetary aspects are active today.

The early morning hours should be favorable to employment and to better feeling among workers.

Older persons come under fortunate planetary conditions. Pension plans of various sorts will be pushed and the aged will benefit, especially in western states.

Statesmen who study the philosophy of history will gain respectful hearings, but there will be slow acceptance of their warnings regarding international crises.

New fortunes will pile up before the end of the year. A few depression victims will become sudden possessors of wealth. Though tears and blood are shed by thousands, their sacrifice will bring wealth to persons in places of the sun.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of success through lucky investments. Both men and women will profit.

Children born on this day probably will be inclined toward practical points of view. These subjects of Virgo are independent and stubborn.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

When a man marries virtually everything he makes goes to the support of his family. He can no longer spend his money on himself and indulge himself in the many luxuries he has enjoyed as a bachelor. Well and good if he loves his wife enough to prefer doling her up to buying himself new golf clubs, but a hardship that makes him sore if he regards her as merely a parasite and begrudges every nickel he has to spend upon her.

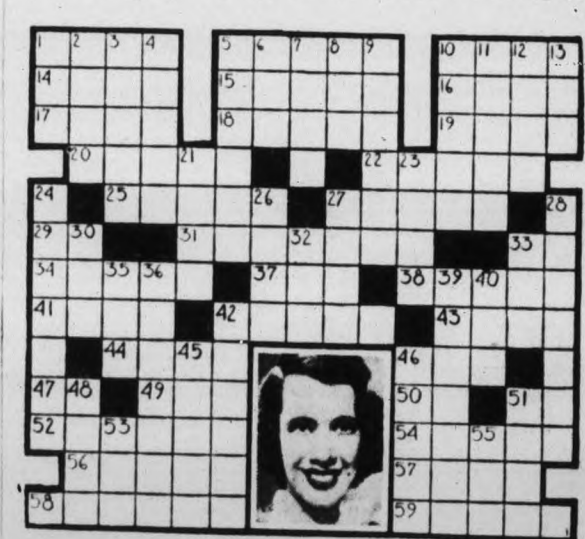

Many men are flattered into marrying women they do not love by the women's devotion to them, but it is always a mistake for both parties. It brings happiness to neither, because the woman who is married to a man whom she knows doesn't love her eats her heart out in bitterness and wears herself out at the impossible task of trying to light a fire without kindling. The woman who has no allure for a man before marriage has even less charm for him after marriage.

Nor is the man happy in a loveless marriage. He is restless and dissatisfied because marriage hasn't brought him what he desired. He compares his wife invidiously with every attractive woman he meets, and possibly without knowing it or intending it he is always seeking his mate. And generally he finds her when it is too late to bring anything but tragedy to him and his wife and the "other woman." In these days when every man is thrown in society and business into close contact with young, clever and pretty girls, he needs the protection of his love for his wife to keep him from temptation, so it is a hazardous thing for any man to marry a woman for whom he has merely a lukewarm liking and respect.

Don't think you are doing any girl a kindness to marry her just because she has set her heart upon you. It is the greatest cruelty you could inflict upon her. Keep away from her and give her a chance to get over her infatuation. She will recover and marry some man who will adore her and cherish her instead of merely enduring her.

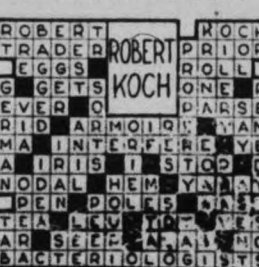

DOROTHY DIX.

Ship Busting Ice
CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The Roman Catholic Arctic mission supply ship, Therese, reported she was attempting to make her way northward to Igloolik, N.W.T., through fields of heavy ice.

The Therese, ice-bound for several days, turned southward in Foxe Channel in an attempt to get free of the ice and head for Repulse Bay and the open waters to the south. She made no headway, however, and turned toward the north once more in hopes floe ice might have moved off shore along Melville Peninsula, opening up a clear-water route to Igloolik.

ERIC MARSHALL AIR LINE AGENT

Duties of handling all Victoria traffic and reservations for United Air Lines' Pacific coast and coast-to-coast system were assumed today by E. F. "Eric" Marshall, who has been appointed general agent here.

Announcement of Marshall's appointment was made by W. J. Dalby, district traffic manager of United Air Lines at Vancouver. The move, Dalby said, was in recognition of Victoria's steadily increasing air traffic, originating both locally and through steamer plane connections at this port. He pointed out also that the appointment coincides with provision of the speediest and finest air schedules ever offered between British Columbia, California, eastern Canada and the Atlantic coast.

Marshall heads the Marshall Travel Service at 902 Government Street, where he will carry on United Air Lines' work in conjunction with the company's Vancouver office.

Railways Offer Special Rates

WINNIPEG—Beginning Saturday, September 24, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways will offer travel inducements to westerners in special fares to eastern Canada on sale between September 24 and October 8, inclusive, with a return limit of 45 days. These fares, it is announced by J. B. Parker, secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association in the west, will apply from all stations west of Port Arthur and Armstrong, Ont., and including the Pacific coast, to stations in eastern Canada.

Similar fares are being offered from eastern to western Canada during the same period. Early fall vacationists will thereby have the travel advantages enjoyed by midsummer tourists.

BURNED CHATHAM NOW SUBMERGED

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—The Alaska Transportation Company's 550-ton freighter Chatham beached yesterday after fire swept her engine room and superstructure while she was loading cargo was two-thirds submerged early today.

The flames, brought under control late last night by a Ketchikan fire boat and the United States coastguard cutter Alert, continued to smoulder. The Alaska Pacific Salvage Company was operating pumps aboard the craft in an effort to lower the water but observers said the work seemed hopeless. With her bow ashore, the Chatham's stern was in 35 feet of water.

BIG EXCURSION PARTY
Carrying 902 excursionists, Ss. Princess Victoria of the C.P.R. coastwise fleet, left the Belleville Street docks at 8:30 this morning on a day trip to Seattle. It was one of the largest crowds carried by the Princess Victoria this season. There were 799 adults and 103 children on the ship's decks as she cleared from the Inner Harbor. The excursionists will be back in Victoria by 10:30 tonight. The same steamer will carry an excursion to Vancouver on Labor Day, September 5. Also on the Labor Day holiday Ss. Princess Adelaide will bring a large excursion here from Vancouver.

YORK IN TOMORROW

H.M.S. York, flagship of the America and West Indies squadron, will this evening hoist anchor in Comox Bay and return to Victoria for a brief stay before returning to her base at Bermuda.

By daylight tomorrow the York will lay off Esquimalt harbor to take aboard additional supplies required for the voyage.

She will then steam out into the straits with the Canadian destroyers Fraser and St. Laurent for gun and torpedo practice. At the conclusion of the day's exercises the British cruiser, with Vice-Admiral Sir Sidney J. Meyrick aboard, will put to sea.

LORD GOWRIE SAILS

Lord Gowrie, Governor General of Australia and his brother, Col. the Hon. Malise Horne-Ruthven, sailed for Sydney by the Niagara last evening, well pleased with their visit to Canada. Lieutenant-Governor Eric Hamber, who is on the mainland, was represented by Lieut. Col. Vincent McKenna, A.D.C., who wished the distinguished visitors bon voyage. Squadron Leader S. J. Moir, A.D.C., was in attendance.

Lord Gowrie said he was delighted to have had the opportunity of meeting so many prominent citizens during his visit here. He now had a much better knowledge of Canada and her affairs, he said.

HERE AS BOY

Sir Harry Luke, newly appointed Governor and High Commissioner of the Fiji Islands, who left Victoria yesterday by the Niagara for Suva, recalled his impressions of 35 years ago when he toured Canada as a boy.

He was just out of Eton when he made that memorable trip. The tremendous changes that have taken place over here in the meantime, amazed him.

Sir Harry has spent a large part of his life in overseas British possessions. He started out as an official in West Africa, later was Governor-General of Palestine and for eight years held a similar post in Malta, Britain's Mediterranean fortress.

TALKS ON TRADE

Returning to Sydney after helping to effect a settlement on tariffs between Great Britain and Australia, Sir Robert W. Dalton, British trade commissioner to Australia, left by the Niagara last night.

Talk of recession in the British Isles is unfounded. Industry there is active and whatever prosperity exists is by no means wholly dependent on the armaments program, he said. Like Canada, Australia is interested in building up her overseas markets for primary products, said Sir Robert.

Wheat and wool still dominate Australia's export trade, but there has been great development of secondary industry, too. "Because Australia has been so dependent on British buying power, when depression hit Britain and British importers curtailed orders, Australia saw her economic lifeline cut off," he said. "It became necessary for Australia to embark on manufacturing and her progress in that direction has been remarkable."

CHARTERED PLANE

Bayne Beauchamp and his group of six university students from Hawaii, who have been touring Alaska, caught the Niagara here last evening with no time to spare. They missed their connections in the north and directed a plane to make the trip south from Juneau.

The plane reached Esquimalt just after yesterday afternoon, and the group boarded the outbound liner at the Rithet Docks just in time.

Vancouver Plan For Fireboats

VANCOUVER (CP)—Private Vancouver interests today placed on offer before Mayor George C. Miller and Alderman Fred Crone, chairman of the Civic Police and Fire Committee, to construct and operate two fireboats on Burrard Inlet.

Under the proposal the city would not be required to make any capital expenditure for the boats, but would pay an annual rental for their services.

The plan was presented by D. Johnson, representing Boeing Aircraft of Canada, which would construct the boats, and W. A. Bickle, manager of Coast Quarries Towing Company which would form an operating company to man and maintain the craft.

Ship's Seams Opened By Seas

Schooner General Greely, With McGregor Expedition Aboard, at St. John's

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The schooner General Greely bearing the McGregor scientific expedition sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation, docked at St. John's last night after a year in the Arctic.

The ship was leaking badly, result of a battering she received in a gale off Cape Chidley, at the entrance of Hudson Strait, two weeks ago. The bow was squeezed, the seams opened by terrific seas. The pumps had been operated continuously since. The expedition left Newark, N.J., in June, 1937, with a crew of 10 headed by Captain Isaac Schorschach, Roy Fitzsimmons, an aviator and Murray Weiner, a cameraman. They wintered at Etah, Greenland, across from Ellesmere Island and well within the Arctic Circle, where they lived ashore in a frame house.

All aboard were well. They said provisions—mostly beer, seal and walrus meat—were plentiful.
